

Graduate Training Program
Presents

Interfaces Research Symposium

Interdisciplinary Research in Multi-Scale Biology

Friday, July 22, 2016

9:30am–4:00pm

La Jolla Shores Hotel

La Jolla, CA

The Annual Interfaces Research Symposium: Interdisciplinary Research in Multi-Scale Biology, is made possible by the National Institutes of Health, National Institute of Biomedical Imaging and Bioengineering; UCSD Graduate Division; and the Interfaces participating departments and programs: Bioengineering, Biological Sciences Div., Biomedical Sciences, Chemistry and Biochemistry, Materials Sciences and Engineering, Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering, Neurosciences, Physics.

SCHEDULE

FRIDAY, JULY 22

LA JOLLA SHORES HOTEL
HTTP://WWW.LJSHORESHOTEL.COM/

9:30 AM Registration & Breakfast

Chair Samantha Jones, and Co-Chair Evan Campbell

9:45 AM Welcome

Andrew McCulloch, Ph.D.

Professor of Bioengineering, Director of the Interfaces Program

10:00 AM Student Research Quick Talks

3-5 minute talks, collegial competition with a panel of judges

Chair Tom Gillespie, and

Co-Chairs: Jae-Young (Jerry) Jung and Justin Plaut

10:50 AM Break

11:00 AM Keynote Address

Title of talk

Thomas Kipps, M.D., Ph.D.

Professor of Medicine, Deputy Director of Research Operations,
UC San Diego Moores Cancer Center

11:45 AM Lunch Buffet

12:15 PM Poster Presentations

Chair: Justin Plaut

Co-Chair: Tom Gillespie

1:00 PM Development Panel

Two minute introductions of panelists, followed by 3 breakout sessions

Participants will divide into 3 groups that rotate to each of the 3 sessions

Chair Samantha Jones, and

Co-Chairs: Evan Campbell and Sasha Heyneman, Kim McCabe

Distinguished Panelists:

Sung Hwan Cho, Ph.D.

Sanjeet Hegde, Ph.D.

Jennifer MacArthur, Ph.D.

Jon Miyake, Ph.D.

Brian Zid, Ph.D.

Shannon Muir, Ph.D.

Maho Niwa, Ph.D.

Larry Squire, Ph.D.

Dena Weinberger, Ph.D.